Cats on Deck, a leading developer and manufacturer of legendary “lifestyle enrichment outdoor cat enclosures” announced today that its Custom Design department has experienced significant growth over the last two years.

“We currently showcase 12 popular models of all shapes and sizes on our web site, and sales are excellent,” stated Jim Montgomery, the company’s Chief Operations Officer. “Lately, more and more customers are asking for something special, and I think it’s because they recognize that the unique nature of our panel and clamp technique presents practically unlimited possibilities regarding cat enclosure size and configuration, either indoors or outdoors, and in many cases, both!”

Cats on Deck’s innovative outdoor cat enclosures are made of steel wire mesh embedded into a sturdy plastic frame creating panels, which quickly snap together to provide cats -- and in many cases, small dogs – with a safe outdoor environment offering pet owners essential peace of mind that their furry companions face no risk of getting lost, wandering into traffic, or being attacked by a dog or wild animals. Additionally, customers who need to move can easily disassemble and re-assemble their modular cat enclosures.

Through its increasingly-popular Custom Design department, Cats on Deck works directly with customers who want a unique outdoor or indoor cat enclosure to suit their cat’s unique requirements, or to fit any space -- including decks, patios, porches, veranda’s, backyards and other spaces where traditional box shaped cages cannot fit.

“To the best of my knowledge, we’re the only company that has the capacity to provide customers with custom design services,” added Montgomery. “We ask customers who wish to create something special to provide us with preferred enclosure dimensions, and an idea as to configuration and any of our numerous accessories. We then create a design and send them a 3D CAD drawing. In many instances, they’ll send us photos of the area they plan to place the enclosure, and we’ll superimpose the CAD onto the photo so they can see exactly how nice it will look on their lawn, deck or patio. Customers love the fact that they have a hand in creating their desired cat enclosure system.”
